

Trails on Water

Slow down as you paddle past landscapes created by the glaciers thousands of years ago or watch the sunrise over the shoreline as you troll or ice fish for walleyes.

These waterways invite fishing and canoeing, and some allow for motorized watercraft, waterskiing, sailing and sailboarding. Some areas offering easy access are listed in the county parks chart on page 14. Also reference the Rock County map on pages 16-17 for additional information.

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources office is located in Janesville at 2514 Morse St., or call 608-743-4800. Visit their website at: www.dnr.state.wi.us

The fish are biting.

Cast your line along the Rock River below the dams, such as those at Indianford, Beloit and Janesville. Shore fishing is also popular at many city and county parks such as Riverside, Monterey, and Traxler parks in Janesville, and Riverside, Armstrong Eddy, and Wooton parks in Beloit. Also check the County Parks chart on page 14 and the County Map on page 18-19 for locations to the great four-season fishing spots listed below.
